The policy summary shows the main features and exclusions of the policy – it does not provide all the terms, conditions and exclusions that are in the policy wording. You can ask us for a copy of this. A significant exclusion is something that may affect your decision as to whether the policy is suitable for you or is unusual compared to other policies for the charity sector that are available. We have also included extra information that may help you.

Cover under our Small Charity Connect policy is provided by Ecclesiastical Insurance Office plc.

Charity activities

The UK charity sector is involved in a wide range of activities. We can meet the insurance needs of your organisation for the following activities.

- meetings, charitable, recreational and fund-raising activities
- sales of goods, including second-hand goods for the benefit of your charity
- activities carried out using third-party suppliers (listed in the public and products liability section of the policy summary)

There are some higher risk activities which we do not cover (exclusions). We will cover some specified higher risk activities if the activity is provided by a professional supplier (see public and products liability section for a list of excluded activities and for professional suppliers' activities and conditions).

Importance of having adequate sums insured

- You should ask your insurance advisor for advice on sums insured and indemnity limits. However, it is your responsibility to make sure that the sums insured are enough.
- If a sum insured is not enough to replace all of the property insured or a loss of all income, we may reduce the amount of a claim payment in equal proportion.
- You should regularly review your sums insured as there is no automatic index-linking under this policy.
- Sums insured should include VAT if this applies.

Settling claims

- If an excess applies to a claim, we will take off the amount of the excess from the claim settlement.
- The sum insured or the indemnity limit (as appropriate) will be the most we will pay unless we say otherwise.

Unoccupancy or change in risk

You must tell us immediately if the buildings are to become unoccupied, without tenants, empty, disused or need to have structural alterations, major repairs, demolition or construction.

If this happens, we may cancel the policy from the date of the alteration or place special terms on you or charge an extra premium.

Special requirements

- These are aimed at reducing the risk of loss, damage or liability.
- They only apply if they relate to your property or your activities.
- We will not pay a claim (unless we say otherwise) if you fail to keep to a special requirement.
- See the policy wording for full details of the special requirements.

Answers to some questions about the policy

How long does the policy provide cover for?

The policy normally runs for 12 months. About four weeks before it ends, we will send a renewal notice telling you our terms for the next 12 months.

What if you want to cancel the policy?

a) If you are an individual person and you want any part of the insurance for purposes which are outside your trade, business or profession, the following cooling-off conditions apply.

- If at the start of cover or when you renew the policy, you change your mind and no longer need the cover, you have 14 days (cooling-off period) from either the date you received the policy wording and the schedule or the date the cover began (whichever is later) to write to us, or your insurance advisor, to say you want to cancel the policy. In these circumstances we will make a full refund of your premium.
- You may cancel the policy after the cooling-off period but the following conditions then apply.

b) For all other insured people, companies or organisations and for an individual person cancelling outside the cooling-off period, the following conditions apply.

- You may cancel the policy by giving us written instructions.
- We will refund the premium for the rest of the period of insurance, which we will adjust if you pay your premium by instalments. We will not give you a refund if it is less than £25.
- If you have made a claim in the current period of insurance, the full annual premium is due and we will not make a refund. If you pay the premium in instalments, you will have to pay any premium you owe for the rest of the period of insurance or we will take it from any claim payment due.

Can Ansvar cancel the policy?

We also have the right to cancel the policy by giving 14 days' notice sent by special delivery to your last-known address. If we cancel the policy, we will refund the premium for the rest of the period of insurance.

What is different about cover arranged on a 'claims made' basis?

Trustees' and directors' indemnity, professional indemnity, libel and slander and misappropriation of money are all types of cover which insurers normally provide on a 'claims made' basis. This means we only provide cover for claims which are discovered and we are told about during a current period of insurance.

If you cancel the cover, you will no longer have protection for losses or actions before you cancelled. This can leave a possible gap in cover if you do not replace it with another insurance policy from the cancellation date. Ideally, before you cancel, you should get the written agreement from anyone who will lose their protection of cover.

What if you need to make a claim?

You can find detailed guidance on making a claim in the policy wording and on our website.

What are cyber risks?

Organisations have become increasingly reliant on technology to carry out their activities. Almost all organisations use or have access to the internet in some way.

Technology and the internet are revolutionising the way organisations communicate with others and how they handle and manage data. However, this has increased the risk of data being compromised by criminals, who can make large sums of money from accessing and stealing data. In addition, legislation can impose penalties on an organisation for not taking appropriate steps to secure or prevent access to data relating to individuals. All of which could result in significant financial loss, disruption to your activities, or damage to your reputation.

These risks aren't just a problem for large organisations; small and medium-sized organisations with fewer data security resources are particularly vulnerable.

Common cyber exposures

Liability

Organisations have certain responsibilities when managing, securing and using data. Failure to adhere to these responsibilities could result in enforcement action by the regulator and the imposition of fines. At the same time, if the person or organisation to which the data relates suffered a financial loss, or harm to their reputation because of your failure to adhere to these responsibilities, a civil liability could be created. This could result in you having to pay:

- a) compensation (damages) to the affected party,
- b) their legal costs (in the event you were unsuccessful in defending a legal action),
- c) your own legal defence costs.

Public liability insurance normally covers the above costs that you may have to pay for third party property damage or bodily injury that arises from your negligence. However, a loss of data will not necessarily involve damage to property (or injury) and as such, standard public liability insurance will not offer protection against the costs arising from a 'cyber liability' (although some cover may be provided as an extension to a policy). Professional indemnity (PI) insurance may offer some protection, but cover can vary and this will be dependent on you having PI cover.

Claims example

Property management firm's email system became corrupted. IT investigation needed to confirm a virus was the cause. Former customer sued for damages after being infected via an email.

Claim £45,000

Common cyber exposures

Expenses following a data-breach

The costs to you following an unauthorised or inadvertent loss of data are not limited solely to legal costs and any amounts of compensation you may have to pay. You may incur further costs:

- a) investigating the extent of the issue, which may include hiring professional persons to undertake this for you,
- b) informing affected parties that their data has been lost or illegally accessed,
- c) providing support to affected parties, which may include providing helplines and specialist help because of the effects of identity theft, and
- d) reducing the impact of a loss of data on your reputation, which may include hiring public relations specialists.

Civil law is compensatory in nature. The law compensates victims of a civil wrong, but (with the exception of injunctions) it makes no provision for limiting or reducing the after effects of a civil wrong. Public liability insurance works on a similar basis by indemnifying you for the costs arising from you being legally liable to compensate another. Cover to reduce or limit the effects of an incident may exist by extension to a public liability policy, but cover varies by insurer. However, specialist cover to reduce or limit the after effects of a loss of data is also available.

Claims example

Accountant's laptop stolen containing 800 customer tax records. Cost to investigate breach, take legal advice and notify clients.

Claim circa £35,000

Damage to computer systems and business interruption

You may also incur additional expense in repairing damage to your computer systems (including your websites) following an incident of hacking, a computer virus or corruption of data.

Insurance policies covering damage to material property ordinarily only respond if there has been physical damage to your property (for example, a fire damages your laptop). Insurance cover for non-physical damage to property (including damage by a virus) is normally catered for by specialist insurance policies.

Any incident of hacking, a computer virus or corruption of data that means you are unable to use your computer systems may also have an effect on your activities and could leave you potentially unable to trade. This may result in a loss of income, or additional expense to minimise the impact of this interruption to your organisation (for example, temporary hire of replacement computer equipment). In the event a fire damaged your property and left you unable to trade, a normal 'business interruption' insurance would pay for this loss of income and also the additional expenses you incur in reducing the effect of the interruption. However, as noted above, cover for business interruption following non-physical damage is normally catered for by specialist insurance policies.

Claims example

Ransomware encrypted the files of a computer system.
Costs incurred to clean the system and restore data.

Claim circa £31,300

Crime

Illegal access to your computer system or those of businesses that you hire to provide services for you could result in money being taken from a bank account or credit arrangements (such as loans or overdrafts) being arranged in your name for the benefit of a fraudster. There is also the possibility that someone could attempt to extort money from you by threatening to damage your computer system or steal data. Protection against such risks can be catered for by specialist insurance policies.

Claims example

Employee fraudulently modified information which resulted in a transfer of funds.

Claim circa £12,800

Risk management

There are practical steps you can take to reduce the:

- likelihood of a 'cyber event' occurring
- impact a cyber event has on your organisation.

These include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Data back-up. You should back-up your data regularly and at least once a week. In the event your computer systems have to be restored or rebuilt this will make the process quicker and reduce the impact on your organisation. It is important that any device used to back-up data is removed from your computers when not in use, this will reduce the risk of a virus spreading and corrupting the backed-up data.
- Anti-virus software. Free software should not be used. Your anti-virus software should be updated at least once a week.

Where possible you should enable automatic updates. This will reduce the likelihood of you being infected with a computer virus.

- Firewalls. You should have in place maintained firewalls to control access, and prevent unauthorised access, to your computer system. Ensure that security precautions on devices are enabled, disabling security precautions may be convenient but it will also increase the risk of infection.
- Email and internet usage. You should have in place an email and internet usage policy that all staff (including volunteers) should adhere to. Computers should only be used for your business or charitable purposes and users should not be permitted to download software or apps from untrusted sources. This will reduce the risk of employees accessing inappropriate or potentially damaging websites.
- Background checks. For new members of staff (including volunteers) you should undertake credit checks and where appropriate, checks with the Disclosure and Barring (DBS) service. Cyber events are not always attributable to external sources and can arise from rogue or disgruntled employees stealing data or sabotaging the system.
- Transferring money. You should have in place documented procedures that requires staff to ensure payment requests are genuine and can be verified prior to making any payment. Staff should be vigilant and treat any unexpected emails requesting bank details or the transfer of funds with suspicion.
- Data service providers. Anyone providing data storage or data services for you should be located in the UK, Channel Islands or the Isle of Man. This will ensure adequate levels of protection for your data, in line with statutory requirements, are in place.
- Password security. Passwords should be unique, strong and changed regularly to reduce the risk of unauthorised access to your system.
- Limiting access. Access to systems and functions should be limited to only those staff or volunteers who need access to that system or function to carry out their role. Access should be revoked for staff or volunteers who leave the organisation, or who change roles within the organisation and no longer require access to a particular system or function.
- Data privacy and information security policies. You should have in place comprehensive data privacy and information security policies. This should include training, so all staff and volunteers are aware of their responsibilities. These policies should be updated regularly and after any incident.
- Crisis management. A crisis management policy will ensure your organisation can:
 - a) respond quickly to, and
 - b) mitigate the impact ofan actual, or alleged, data breach or a cyber event. Being prepared in advance will reduce the impact any incident has on your organisation.

- Hardware destruction policy. When documents are disposed of, or any hardware is disposed of or sold, all information and personal data should be removed to reduce the risk of a third party accessing this data.
- Data encryption. Any sensitive data sent to third parties or stored or transferred onto portable devices (such as USB sticks) should be encrypted.
- Update systems. Systems, software and devices should be kept up to date with the latest updates. Computer viruses are often designed to exploit known flaws in older software and devices, keeping your systems, software and devices up to date will reduce the risk of being infected by a virus or hacked.

Compliance with a recognised standard, such as ISO/IEC 27001:2013, can help you implement some of the above steps. Obtaining ISO 27001 accreditation can be a complex process but it will demonstrate to your customers and service users that you take data security seriously. Alternatively, the government has introduced the 'Cyber Essentials' scheme to help organisations implement basic controls to address cyber threats and certification with this will likewise demonstrate to others that you have taken essential precautions against these threats (see <https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/cyber-essentials-scheme-overview> for more details).

It is important that in the event of someone attempting to extort money from you, or holding your data or systems to ransom that you do not pay any ransom demand without first seeking specialist advice. Paying even a small sum can result in you being more likely to be targeted again in the future.

Provision of insurance cover may be dependent on you adopting some, or all, of the measures outlined above. However, whether you take out specialist cover to protect yourself from the financial consequences of a cyber-attack or not, you should consider if any additional security measures are appropriate for your organisation.

Special conditions for Legal Expenses

1 YOUR REPRESENTATION

- a) On receiving a claim, if representation is necessary, DAS will appoint a preferred law firm or tax consultancy or in-house lawyer as the insured's appointed representative to deal with the insured's claim. They will try to settle the insured's claim by negotiation without having to go to court.
- b) If the appointed preferred law firm or tax consultancy or DAS's in-house lawyer cannot negotiate settlement of the insured's claim and it is necessary to go to court and legal proceedings are issued or there is a conflict of interest, then the insured may choose a law firm or tax expert to act as the appointed representative. DAS will choose the appointed representative to represent the insured in any proceedings where we are liable to pay a compensation award.
- c) If the insured chooses a law firm as their appointed representative who is not a preferred law firm or tax consultancy, DAS will give the insured's choice of law firm the opportunity to act on the same terms as a preferred law firm or tax consultancy. However if they refuse to act on this basis, the most we will pay is the reasonable amount incurred taking into account what we would have paid to a preferred law firm or tax consultancy.
- d) The appointed representative must co-operate with DAS at all times and must keep DAS up to date with the progress of the claim.

2 YOUR RESPONSIBILITIES

An insured person must:

- a) co-operate fully with DAS and the appointed representative

- c) We may decide to pay an insured person the reasonable value of the claim that the insured person is claiming or is being claimed against them instead of starting or continuing legal action. In these circumstances an insured person must allow DAS to take over and pursue or settle a claim in their name. An insured person must allow DAS to pursue at our expense and for the insured person's benefit, any claim for compensation against any other person and an insured person must give DAS all the information and help DAS need to do so.
- d) Where a settlement is made on a without-cost basis DAS will decide what proportion of that settlement will be regarded as costs and expenses and payable to us.

6 WITHDRAWING COVER

If an insured person settles a claim or withdraws their claim without DAS's agreement, or does not give suitable instructions to the appointed representative, we can withdraw cover and will be entitled to re-claim any costs and expenses we have paid.

7 EXPERT OPINION

DAS may require the insured to get, at the insured's own expense, an opinion from an expert, that DAS consider appropriate, on the merits of the claim or proceedings, or on a legal principle. The expert must be approved in advance by DAS and the cost agreed in writing between the insured and DAS. Subject to this we will pay the cost of getting the opinion if the expert's opinion indicates that it is more likely than not that the insured will recover damages (or obtain any other legal remedy that DAS have agreed to) or make a successful defence.

Special conditions for Legal Expenses

8 ARBITRATION

If there is a disagreement between the insured and DAS about the handling of a claim and it is not resolved through DAS's internal complaints procedure the insured may be able to contact the Financial Ombudsman Service for help.

In instances where the Financial Ombudsman Service cannot help (e.g. the insured is not an eligible complainant) there is a separate arbitration process.

The arbitrator will be a barrister chosen jointly by the insured and DAS.

If there is a disagreement over the choice of arbitrator DAS will ask the Chartered Institute of Arbitrators to decide.

If you are an individual person and any part of the insurance by this policy has been requested by you for purposes which are outside your trade, business or profession then the following cooling-off and cancellation conditions apply.

Your right to cancel in the cooling-off period:

If at inception or renewal of this policy and after receiving the full written documentation (either in paper or electronic format), including the schedule, you change your mind and no longer require the cover then you have 14 days (cooling-off period) from either the date you received the full documentation or the date the cover commenced, whichever is the later, to tell us, or your insurance advisor, in writing that you wish to cancel the policy. Our services

These include: assessing your needs and making a personal recommendation about your insurance, arranging your cover and helping you with any policy changes you, we or the insurer make. As part of our service, we'll also help you with any claim.

We conduct a fair and personal analysis of the market to meet your demands and needs. Sometimes, this means we'll only offer products from a single insurer but we'll let you know who this is.

We act as your agent when finding your insurance and putting it in place, and when you make a claim. We act as the insurer's agent when we collect your premium and we'll let you know if there are other situations where we are acting on behalf of the insurer.

Our remuneration

This is commission, which is a percentage of the premium paid by you; commission may well include a profit share arrangement that your policy may contribute towards. If any fee is due, we'll agree this with you before you purchase the policy.

We are committed to ensuring complete transparency of our remuneration and we will, at your request fully disclose our remuneration.

Fair presentation of risk

Before entering into a contract of insurance, prior to a midterm alteration and ahead of your policy renewal, it is your statutory duty to make a fair presentation of your risk. This information must be provided in a clear and accessible format. You must disclose, where practical, all material circumstances about your risk, this being information that might affect the judgement of a prudent insurer in deciding whether to accept your risk or not - should you require additional explanation of what constitutes a material circumstance, please contact us immediately.

You must make reasonable enquiries before presenting your risk and ensure that all individuals holding knowledge about the risk have been approached in the compilation of this information.

If you feel you have not been able to do so, please advise us, so we can allow underwriters to make further enquiries if they wish to do so.

You must complete any proposal forms or fact finds provided to you, honestly, accurately and in good faith.

Any deliberate or reckless misrepresentation may involve part, or your entire claim being declined and in some circumstances; the Insurer may be entitled to retain your premium whilst avoiding the policy or apply additional terms to your policy.

Security

We do not guarantee the solvency of any insurer we place business with. A liability for the premium, whether in full or pro rata, may arise under policies where a participating insurer becomes insolvent.

GDPR/Data Protection - how we use your data

We treat your personal information as private and confidential, and we're registered with the ICO as a Data Controller. We comply with the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) in all our dealings with your personal data. If you'd like specific information on how we use your personal data, and other rights you have under GDPR such as 'Right of Access', please contact us. You can review our privacy notice at: <https://www.policybee.co.uk/privacy-notice>.

Information which you provide to us will not be used or disclosed by us to other parties, except in the normal course of handling a contract of insurance or a claim on your behalf and any related activities, unless we have obtained the necessary consent from you or where we are required to by law or a regulatory body that has authority over us. We will take appropriate steps to maintain the security of your confidential documents and information which are in our possession.

Credit Checks

To make sure you get the best offer from Insurers or Third Parties involved in your insurance, i.e. finance providers, now or at any renewal or at any time and to protect their customers from fraud and to verify your identity, they may use publicly available data which they obtain from a variety of sources, including a credit reference agency and other external organizations. Their search will appear on your credit report whether your applications proceed.

Unless you contact us to confirm you do not want these searches to be carried out we will assume your consent has been given and proceed as above.

Claims

You must notify us as soon as possible of a claim and circumstances which may give rise to a claim. In the event of a claim you should contact us and we will promptly advise you and pass all details to your Insurer. You should not admit liability or agree to any course of action, other than emergency measures carried out to minimise the loss, until you have an agreement from your Insurer. We will remit claims payments to you as soon as possible after they have been received on your behalf. If an insurer becomes insolvent or delays making settlement we do not accept liability for any unpaid amounts.

Handling your money

Our financial arrangements with most insurance companies are on a 'risk transfer' basis. This means we act as agents of the insurer in collecting premiums and handling refunds. In these circumstances, money is deemed to be held by the insurer(s) arranging your policy. However, if risk transfer does not apply, we'll hold that money in a statutory trust account set up in accordance with the FCA Client Assets Sourcebook (CASS) and with our nominated bank. Holding money in line with CASS ensures your money is protected and used only for the settlement of Insurer accounts. We'll retain interest earned on money in a statutory trust account.

Cancellation Clause

Your insurance may include a cancellation clause. Full cancellation details will be explained to you during the negotiation process. If you fail to pay your premium by the due date the insurance may be cancelled forthwith or by the insurers, giving notice of the cancellation. In the event of cancellation, insurers may return the pro rata premium to us, but you are advised to check your insurance policy for full details of your insurers' cancellation clause. Once our remuneration has been earned if the insurance is cancelled after inception, our commission will not usually be returnable.

Financial Crime

The National Crime Agency (NCA) requires us to report any suspicious transactions to them. In these circumstances, we might ask for evidence of your identity. This could mean we ask to see your passport, a utility bill or a bank statement. For companies, we might want to see your Certificate of Incorporation or we may check the Companies House register.

Health & Safety

We cannot be held responsible for any client who fails to comply with current Health & Safety (or other relevant) legislation.

Termination

Our services may be terminated without cause or penalty by giving one month's notice in writing. If our services are terminated by you other than at the expiry of the policy, we will be entitled to retain the commission payable. The responsibility for handling claims reported after the date of termination shall, in the absence of an express agreement, be the responsibility of the party taking over the role.

Refusal of service

We reserve the right to refuse service to any customer at our discretion without the need for justification or explanation.

Law and Jurisdiction

The insurance policy offered is strictly available to individuals aged 18 years or older, ensuring compliance with legal requirements and promoting responsible insurance practices.

These terms of business are written according to English law. Any legal action or proceedings arising out of or in connection with these terms of business fall under the jurisdiction of English courts.
